board and the Guides in Brest.

Anya was able to meet outside with the Guides from the Paddington Bear group in late June to organise their trip to a Camp in Brest. The camp was organised by people in the local tourist

Here is what Anya wrote about the whole experience of camping:

Tent camp is dramatically different from other summer camps: it has its own unique atmosphere. Girls learn how to organize their life in hiking conditions: they learn to properly put up a tent (so that it does not get wet and it does not blow down), to burn the fire (top of the skill - from the first match), to eat for the whole camp (the hardest thing is not burn in the morning 😊), In such camps, children learn useful things that expand their circles and then come in handy in life (medicinal herbs, first aid, creative workshops, etc.).

We spent an unforgettable week outdoors in the clean pine forest. Thanks to the tourist base d. Leplevka for a hospitable reception and Girls-Guides of the city of Brest for organizing the camp! Camp participants always looked forward to the evening program by the fire, where you can still sing songs to the guitar, look for constellations in the sky, fry sausages and just dream!

Two of the girls were able to make their Promise at the camp which was a memorable occasion as they would not be having a main camp.
